

Europe Eurasia Issues

EUROPE-EURASIA LATEST

EUROPA

The European Union On-Line

International Security

Conference on

Security and Cooperation in Southeast Europe

June 26-27, Istanbul

Hyatt Regency Hotel

The goal of the conference is to bring together experts and policy makers, along with business and media representatives to exchange views, discuss the future of the region, and debate the role of regional states, international organizations and global powers in ensuring stability and development throughout the region.

At a time when the world faces new challenges to stability arising from the war in Iraq, the possible future of Southeast Europe has taken on a new urgency. As a region struggling with ethnic and religious divides, terrorism, and organized crime, it badly needs strategies to avoid repetition of past bloodshed and economic development to help stability. Strategies successful in Southeast Europe could potentially be implemented elsewhere in the world, in areas facing similar types of threats. With this in mind, the conference will attempt to address the wider implications of policies in Southeast Europe, and their utility in managing other global conflicts.

Links to other Internet sites should not be construed as an endorsement of the views contained therein.

American Information Resource Center This page is prepared by the American Information Resource Center of the Public Affairs Section, U.S. Consulate General Istanbul.